NAVAL BOARD WANTS FLEET PEER OF ANY

League Ignored in Advice to Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—A "fleet second to none" is urged by the general board of the navy in recommending that congress authorize the construction of eighty-eight additional ships in the next three years.

League of nations plans for the reduction of armament have not caused the board, which is the highest authority on American naval policies and strategy, to change its views regarding sound measures for national defense, and it says that a "navy second to none" is required today.

"But, in addition," continues the report issued today, "the great war has shown the importance of unimpeded ocean transportation for commerce. If either belligerent loses command of the sea, the national fighting power and endurance is greatly affected."

Navy and Marine Doretail. "Our navy and our merchant marine service are inextricably associated in the economic progress and prosperity of the people."

A combatant navy, supporting and protecting a great merchant fleet, as our country requires both in peace and war, appears to the general board as an essential condition of national progress and economic prosperity.

"Owing to the extent of our coast line, bordering as it does upon two oceans, our widely separated possessions in the Pacific, including Alaska, the large increase in our merchant marine, and our rapidly extending commercial interests, the general board believes that the policy, so far as its navy is concerned, should be such that the United States will possess a navy equal to the most powerful maintained by any other nation of the world."

No Challenge to World. "In using that this become the guiding naval policy of the United States, there is no thought of the inferiority of international competitive building. No other nation can in reason take exception to such a position."

The board says it realizes the general reluctance to authorize considerable naval expenditures on account of past war economic conditions and the feeling, "in which the wish is father to the thought, that after such a world upheaval military preparations may well be put off to the more or less distant future."

In these points of view the board sees grave danger. "Insists on Battleships. Battleships, the board says, remain permanent factors in naval defense, and we have only eleven 'ready for service,' but twenty-one building, the last of which will be delivered in 1925. The board recommends the construction of three more for delivery by 1927."

As there are six battle cruisers building, only one more is recommended. "Inferiority in cruisers causes the board to urge the building of thirty in the next three years."

The 141 submarines built and building, the board asks for only six of the cruiser and twelve of the mine types, of which we have none. "The board recommends the construction of three more for delivery by 1927."

Secretary Daniels today declared his opposition to the suggestion that the United States, England, and Japan, as the world's three most formidable sea powers, shall jointly proclaim a "naval holiday" of five years, during which none of them would engage in fresh armament construction.

"I think," Secretary Daniels said, "any suggestion of an alliance between any three nations does not mean the things which would lead to peace and real disarmament. Any agreement for a reduction of armament must be between all free nations. If any three countries make an agreement it would be an alliance and a return to the pre-war period which directly to that struggle. Such an alliance would be a most unwise policy and short sightedness on the part of any three nations in the agreement."

"Unless the United States is ready to go into an association of all nations we cannot quit our building program without any agreement with any two

MRS. CARPENTER ROBBED IN LOOP of $12,000 GEMS

Pickpocket Gets Her Pearl Necklace.

The pickpocket, presumably a woman, who jostled against Mrs. Alice A. Carpenter of 1130 Lake Shore drive at a counter in Marshall Field & Co.'s basement on Dec. 13, deftly opening her handbag and extracting a green leather case from an inner compartment, obtained a haul probably many times the value looked for. The case contained a $12,000 pearl necklace made of seventy-nine evenly matched pearls.

The robbery was disclosed for the first time yesterday when A. F. Shaw & Co., 175 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago representatives of Lloyd's, offered $1,500 reward for the necklace and "no questions asked."

Afraid to Wear Pearls. Mrs. Carpenter, who is the wife of August Carpenter of the Ayer & Lord Tie company, 80 East Jackson boulevard, left her home on a shopping tour at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the robbery. She explained that she took the necklace along in the bag because she intended to attend a reception after the shopping tour and was afraid to wear the pearls about her neck in the crowded store.

She drove to the store in her motor car and first visited the ribbon counter. She purchased a small spool of red ribbon and noticed that the jewel case was still in the bag when she opened it to place the ribbon inside. She fastened both the inner and outer clasps of the handbag securely. She then visited the stationery counter, but did not make a purchase, and proceeded to the Christmas tissue paper counter in the basement.

Justified Several Times. "She recalled afterward that there was a crowd about the counter and that she was jostled several times. She discovered her loss when she made a purchase there. She notified the floor walker of the jewelry department of her loss and was referred to the store detective, who advised her to notify the insurance agency."

A thorough search of the Carpenter home was made and also of the automobile in the belief Mrs. Carpenter may have dropped the jewel case. The necklace was purchased twelve years ago from the Jurgens & Anderson company and had been appraised as worth $12,000 just a few days before the robbery by Spaulding & Co.

EEL SLIDES INTO BOILER PIPE AND STOPS THE FERRY

Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 13.—The good ship Alice Howard swallowed an eel today and ferry service between Kittery, Me., and this city was stopped until Alice's throat could be cleared. All the marine doctors of the port were called in consultation before the trouble that kept it at its pier was diagnosed as digestive and traced directly to the injector.

There it was found the pipes were clogged. Fires were drawn and search of the feed tank made with the result that a large eel was found coiled there. 6,240 Smiths in N. Y.; Again Top List of Names New York, Dec. 13.—The "well known" Smiths have regained their numerical supremacy in New York nomenclature, it is revealed by the city's new directory issued today. Fifty-two columns of Smiths, with about 120 names to a column, are listed.

Forces of the crown started the fires in this city, says the Herald, the labor organ.

LOOTERS AT WORK.
CORK, Dec. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]—Eyewitnesses of the burning of Cork graphically relate how men, masked with scarfs, removed loot from the flames enveloped shops. Some of them had leather bags over their shoulders and additional plunder slung over their shoulders. It is reported that a large number of the employees of the destroyed establishments, anticipating their destruction, insured their salaries with English companies.

It is said that looters removed from a jewelry store several large trophy cups which, being too heavy for them to carry off, were thrown into a blazing street car standing in a thoroughfare.

All the auxiliaries were leaving Cork tonight. It is understood that the military intend to do duty without the assistance of the irregular troops.

More than 300 buildings are said to have been destroyed in the fires which yesterday laid waste a great part of this city. Most of the fires have been extinguished, but there are occasional sporadic outbreaks of flames.

The police and military are having the greatest difficulty in keeping the thousands of spectators from the wrecked premises, the walls of which threaten to collapse.

Best of Cork in Ruins.
The week-end of terror and wild destruction through which Cork passed left in its train a terrible welter of ruin.

There have been no fresh outbreaks of shooting and the conflagrations mostly burned themselves out, but today the finest part of the city lies a mass of ruins. In St. Patrick street, which was the main commercial artery of the city, solid blocks of business premises, the most imposing in Cork, have been wiped out.

The city engineer stated today that the destruction was on a scale too great for him to make an immediate estimate of the number of buildings destroyed, but in other quarters it was said more than three hundred had been burned, with the loss of more than $3,000,000 [nearly $15,000,000].

DISARM BY DEC. 27.
DUBLIN, Dec. 13.—Dec. 27 has been set as the date when arms, ammunition, and explosives held by civilians in the area under martial law in Ireland must be given up, Gen. Sir Nevill Macready, military commander of Ireland, proclaimed today.

BATTLE NEAR CORK
BY JOHN LESTER.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 13.—A sharp engagement occurred yesterday afternoon near Clonke, County Cork, between a small "republican" force and a lorry patrol of Cameron Highlanders. A brisk fire was opened on the military from two houses on the roadside and hand grenades were freely used. The highlanders alighted, engaged, and fought for half an hour.

Two houses were burned, one corporal wounded, one "republican" killed, several wounded, and two captured. Ten bombs and some equipment were also captured.

POLICE RESIST ATTACK.
BALLINALEE, County Longford, Ireland, Dec. 13.—The police barracks here was attacked this morning. A wall was blown in after a five hour battle, but the police held the building. One constable was killed and three severely wounded.

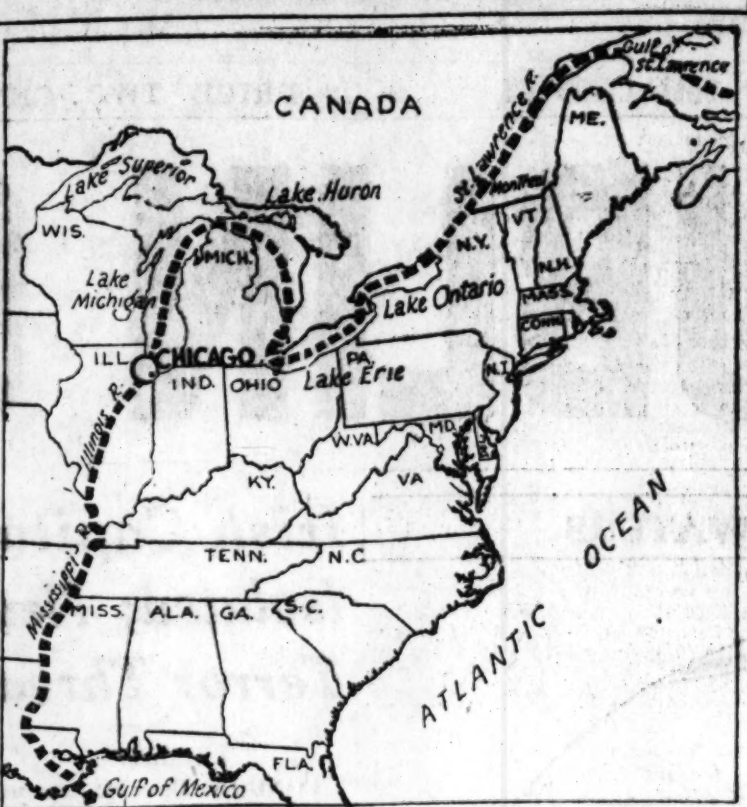

Irish Raid Barracks.
BELFAST, Ireland, Dec. 13.—Armed Sinn Feiners last night attacked the police barracks at Camlough, south of Armagh.

SLUG, KIDNAP AND ROB 'MILLIONAIRE' NEWSIE' OF $1,500
Addie P. Fitzgerald, Hammond's "millionaire" newsboy, was slugged, kidnapped, taken on a wild ride to Chicago, robbed of a diamond stickpin and $300 and thrown from the machine early yesterday morning, he reported to the Hammond police.

Fitzgerald was returning home shortly after midnight when three robbers sprang at him near an alley. He resisted and says one of the bandits broke a revolver in slugging him.

When he recovered consciousness he was in an automobile, he says, and the bandits were searching his clothing as the machine sped toward Chicago. His stickpin, valued at $1,200, had already been taken. He managed to slip a $1,200 diamond ring into his shoe before the robbers could find it.

While driving along South Michigan avenue, he asserts, the bandits threw him out at an alley near Fifth street.

The Hammond police communicated with the Chicago force and, so particular was Fitzgerald's description of the bandits, the police here believe they will soon capture them.

CHICAGO TO BE BUCKLE OF VAST U. S. WATER BELT

Great Harbor on State Line Is Urged.

Chicago is destined to become the world's greatest metropolis and the "buckle" of the navigable water belt which will extend from the Gulf of Mexico via the Mississippi river, the Illinois waterway, the great lakes, and the St. Lawrence to the Atlantic ocean, according to government experts.

Civil, industrial, and commercial interests, through the Association of Commerce, the Commercial club, and other organizations, are preparing to make early and intensive study of plans developed to a basic working point by Col. William V. Judson, engineer of the northwestern division.

Col. Judson's study calls for the acquisition and use of Wolf lake in the establishment of an "Illiana harbor."

His plan has been approved by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, and concurred in by the chief of engineers of the war department.

Divert Much from Railways.
"It is fair to anticipate that in from ten to fifteen years there will be a navigable water belt from the Gulf of Mexico reaching to the Atlantic at the Gulf of St. Lawrence," Col. Judson said yesterday.

"All commerce between the seacoast and points west and northwest must traverse it or cross it on the way to or from the sea, and if there be sufficient economies in water transportation and in handling, a large part will be diverted from rail to water and seek port for export by the cheaper route."

"At the very buckle of the belt where two parts of the through route come together lies Chicago. At this point, Chicago, already the greatest rail center of the world, and seemingly destined soon to become the western terminus of great ocean routes and also the northern terminus of one of the greatest of inland waterways leading to the Gulf of Mexico, there must necessarily be great and continually increasing provision for the transfer of freight."

Points Need of Vast Harbor.
"This interchange must be carried on in the most economical and expeditious way so that vessels and cars may have the quickest 'turnaround.'"

"Fortunately there is a break in the middle of the water front between the Illinois Steel company plant and Gary which is not yet used for industrial purposes."

"This undeveloped water front is some three and one-half miles long. The area just back of it, covered by Wolf Lake, Lake George, and nearby marshy regions, is about six square miles in extent. The shoreline of Lake Michigan at this point is reasonably shoal and is already publicly owned."

JUST A BUSINESS FRIEND OF WIDOW, MAY TELLS JURY

Suicide Verdict Returned in Reynolds Death.

Harry C. May, general manager of the Monon railroad, whose interest in the affairs of Mrs. Minnie Viola Reynolds, a pretty widow, was revealed Saturday following the woman's death in the elegantly furnished apartment at 440 North Dearborn street, was the principal witness at the inquest yesterday. At the close of the hearing the jury returned a verdict of "suicide while brooding over business worries."

Mr. May was not present when the inquest was opened, and failed to respond when Coroner Peter M. Hoffman, who took personal charge of the proceedings, asked, "Is Mr. May here?" He slipped in shortly afterwards, however, taking a seat in the rear and keeping his face hidden. His wife, the mother of his two children, planned to attend the inquest and, following the inquest, May was surrounded by five or six women who talked in low tones with him, but none would admit that she was Mrs. May.

In answer to questions by the coroner, May said that he had known Mrs. Reynolds for three years.

"What were your relations with her?"

"Friendly, just those of a friend."

"Did you visit her apartment frequently?"

"Yes, sir, as a friend."

"When did you last see her alive?"

"Friday afternoon about 2 o'clock. We had dinner together at the Palmer house and she appeared considerably disturbed because her contemplated purchase of a hotel was not being consummated as rapidly as she thought it was."

"Were you to help her in this enterprise?"

"Yes, sir; I was willing to assist her financially."

Mrs. Jane Parker, a sister of the dead woman, testified before Mr. May, who said that she had known that her sister was contemplating the purchase of a hotel and that she was worried over the transaction.

JILTED AT ALTAR; NOW HE'S SUED ON GIRL'S GOWN BILL

Hoosier Reminded of Blighted Romance.

John P. O'Donnell of Logansport, Ind., has not forgotten the rocky road of romance that led him to St. Ann's church, Garfield boulevard and La Salle street, on July 9, 1919, and left him waiting, brideless, at the altar.

Even if time had sealed this unpleasant memory, a suit for $350 filed yesterday in a Logansport, Ind., court came as an unwelcome reminder. The bill was filed by Bluma, a Michigan avenue shop dealing in "smart wear for women." It sets up the sum as the unpaid portion of a bill for three gowns O'Donnell purchased for Miss Catherine Marie Kelly, 6850 Rhodes avenue, who, it will be remembered, was the young woman who left him "waiting at the church."

The gowns were not all that O'Donnell purchased for Miss Kelly, as she admitted at the time she suddenly discovered she "didn't love O'Donnell" and ran away on the morning of her wedding day. There was an automobile, which she said she had given back, and diamonds which she announced she was willing to return. But she made no mention of the gowns.

Miss Kelly has persistently denied that she ever was married to O'Donnell or to Thomas J. McCarville Jr., 2101 Leclair street, another claimant for her hand, but a member of the law firm of McMahon, Graber & Edward asserts a bill was filed to annul Miss Kelly's marriage to O'Donnell. The bill, which is of record, though the suit was later withdrawn, recites that Miss Kelly was married to O'Donnell at St. Joe, Mich., Sept. 5, 1919, and that she was urged into the marriage against her will by the persistent efforts of O'Donnell and her mother.

Last August a couple giving the names of Thomas J. McCarville Jr. and Catherine Kelly applied for a marriage license at Waukegan, but it was refused when the woman admitted she had been recently divorced.

ROBBERS DEFY POLICE CHIEF IN NEW OUTBREAK

45 Crimes Committed in 48 Hours.

Chicago criminals apparently have defied Police Chief Fitzmorris' challenge to mortal combat.
Switching their time schedules to avoid Chief Fitzmorris' regular Saturday night drive against crime, holdup men started operations at 5 o'clock Sunday morning and committed thirty-four highway robberies between that hour and 8 o'clock last night. Altogether, forty-five robberies and attempted holdups were reported in the forty-eight hour stretch. On ordinary day's holdups number from fifteen to eighteen.

Enter Residential Districts.
The gunmen also switched territories, avoiding the tougher districts where Chief of Detective Hughes had concentrated his forces and scattering out through the residential and outlying sections.

Most of the holdups were reported by such stations as Grand Crossing, Hyde Park, Stanton avenue, New City, and Stock Yards, while only one robbery each was reported by the East and West Chicago avenue stations and Desplains street station, where holdups have been most frequent.

Not a single holdup was reported by the Warren avenue station, situated in the heart of the west side bad lands.
"We were expecting this activity on the part of the crooks," said Chief Hughes, "because they have been comparatively quiet of late. Saturday night we gathered in 200 suspects. But the sick men were taking advantage of the fact that many policemen have to appear in court on Monday morning."

Red Shirt Robber Busy.

Though detectives have been combing the Stanton avenue district for days seeking the Negro in the red shirt, who has committed a string of during daylight holdups in the last week, the robber found four new victims yesterday.

Five or six men in an automobile committed ten holdups in the Grand Crossing and Hyde Park districts while other bandit cars toured the far west and northwest sides.

Miss Elizabeth Waters was forced into a rear room of her candy shop at 244 West Twenty-sixth street at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by two holdup men, who escaped with $495. Miss Waters fired several shots at them as they fled.

Marcus Stringer, 1546 Roosevelt road, a jewelry salesman, escaped from three men who tried to rob him of $1,000 he was taking to a bank, by running into a firehouse in Roosevelt road, near May street.

Another intended victim, who frustrated an attempt to rob him was Theodore Cernewski, who used his bare fists to rout three men in his saloon at 4801 South Loomis street.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 13.—Diplomatic relations between Holland and Jugo-slavia have been broken off, it was stated here today. Holland has recalled her minister from Belgrade and has dismissed the Serbian charge d'affaires at The Hague.

THE beginning of the difficulty was the arrest in the early part of the war, without notification to Holland, of the Austrian subject. Since then, accordforts by Holland to adjust the difficulties amicably had met with insolent treatment.

THE action was taken as the result of what the Dutch foreign office terms
"a long series of insults to the Dutch government."

MRS. O'GRADY, POLICE OFFICIAL, QUITS IN GOTHAM

New York, Dec. 13.—[Special.]— Mrs. Ellen A. O'Grady resigned today

as fifth deputy police commissioner
because "Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright took the enforcement of the welfare laws against motion picture theaters out of my hands and placed it in the hands of a Mr. Levy, who is connected with the motion picture trust," she said.

"For two years," Mrs. O'Grady
Commissioner Enright tried to force me out of the police department," Mrs. O'Grady declared,
"but I held on, because I loved the work and I wanted to make sure the women and children of this city would be protected."

"The strain was too much for me this morning. Acting Capt. Amon came to me and said Police Commissioner Enright had just ordered him to tell me that my work in connection with the motion picture houses was too strenuous." So I took my gold badge out of my handbag, ran up to Commissioner Enright and said:
"Here's my badge; I'm through."

Mrs. O'Grady, who was born in Ireland, came to New York in 1894 and has since then been a prominent

LITTLE NEWSBOY NEEDS A FRIEND, A GOOD FELLOW

Mother Sick, at 13 He Is Head of Family of 7.

As a study in human nature this Good Fellow campaign furnishes enough material every day for a book.
Here's a letter this morning from John, who writes that he is a newsboy, has no father, and his mother is sick and cannot go to work.

"We are six children, three girls and three boys. The girls are Frances, 7; Florie, 10; Louise, 5, and the boys are Carmen, 8; Tony, 5, and John, 12.
Please don't forget to bring us some shoes and clothing, because we haven't got much of each. Please don't forget us."

Perhaps you have enough of each to spare something for this interesting family that John is so nobly trying to support by selling newspapers.
COME ON, GOOD FELLOWS,
LET'S GET TOGETHER.

A letter to Santa.
Sometimes we have difficulty in mastering the writing and the spelling in these Good Fellow appeals. This little girl writes pretty well, but her pencil must have given out when she got to the names of her brothers and sisters, or maybe her little hand got tired from writing so much. Here is her letter, written to Santa Claus:

"Dear Santa Claus: I am a poor girl. My father is dead and my mother is left with five of us children.
There is only two boys working and they don't bring much home. Just enough to buy food. We all need clothes and shoes. I hope you will come and make us have a happy Christmas and bring us what we need. We will all be happy when we see you coming.

at the names] Florence is 11 years old, approximately $1,800,000 more in 1921

than during 1920, according to figures completed yesterday by Supt. Morten-ask the board of education for about $26,000,000.

"Of this amount $10,000,000 will be used for new school buildings," Mr.
Mortenson said.

MEASURE TO AID FARMERS VOTED DESPITE BATTLE

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(Special.)—Overriding stubborn opposition, the coalition of southern and western senators tonight forced the adoption of the resolution to aid the agricultural interests which are suffering heavy losses because of the sagging prices of farm products.

The measure was carried without a roll call after a test vote disclosed the opposition hopelessly outnumbered. The resolution, as finally adopted, directs the secretary of the treasury to make the War Finance corporation with a view of finding foreign markets for agricultural and other products.

It also declares it to be the sense of congress that the federal reserve board should take such action as may be desired to permit member banks to grant liberal extension of credits to farmers at a fair and reasonable rate of interest.

Opponents, notably Senator Glass,

LADY BOUNTIFUL

MISS ELEANOR GUGGENHEIM.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Miss Eleanor May Guggenheim, daughter of Solomon R. Guggenheim, who is to be married Thursday in St. Margaret's, Westminster, to Viscount Stuart, son and heir of the sixth Earl of Castle Stewart, has divided the $50,000 engagement present given her by the viscount between various American charities, the King Edward hospital fund in London, and the Tyrone county hospital.

Virginia, and Senator McLean, Connecticut, said the farmers should be told the truth, and not be misled into the belief that the measure would aid them. Senator McLean charged that the resolution was "written in bad faith" and told the senate it was useless to try to "make gold out of paper."

Senator Glass produced figures to show that credit inflation was increasing. He stated that the redemptions of the Chicago federal reserve bank now were $455,000,000, an increase of $221,000,000 compared with a year ago.

The St. Louis federal bank's discounts were $34,000,000, compared with $64,000,000 a year ago; those of Kansas City, $146,000,000, against $98,000,000 a year ago; those of Minneapolis, $112,000,000, against $54,000,000 a year ago, he stated.

Senator Edge, New Jersey, opposing the resolution, declared that the billion dollar corporation formed in Chicago last week afforded "a practical method of attempting to solve these problems."

Senator Nelson of Minnesota sharply criticized the new corporation.

Committee of 17 Studies Grain Market Problems

Realizing the importance of its action as regards both the grain and market fields, the Committee of Seventeen went into session behind closed doors at the Congress hotel yesterday to consider every phase of the selling of grain. The meeting probably will last all week. The committee made no public announcement of the progress made during the first day's session. This is the third conference which has been held by the members, representing thirteen grain producing states. Experts probably will be called in to explain the various cooperative systems.

We realize that it has become not a question of whether merchandise sells at a profit or at a loss—the profit of the individual is of small moment where the welfare of the multitude is involved. The clearing of shelves has become a public duty—shall I say a patriotic duty?—so that future purchasing may be done to the end that the industries of America may not become stagnant.

HOUSE ERECTS DAM TO STEM FLOOD OF ALIENS

Senate, However, Likely to Puncture It.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—The bill to prohibit immigration for fourteen months passed the house today, 233 to 41. Seven Illinois members voted against the bill and against any suspension of immigration. The measure now goes to the senate, where it does not appear to have much chance.

The attempt in the house to have the suspension period increased to two years was defeated, 181 to 165. Representative Mann, Chicago, led the fight for the shorter period. On the final vote on passage Mann and Madden voted "present," being paired with House Democratic leaders who favored the longer suspension.

President Has Last Say.
Amendments were written into the original bill whereby the president, and not the immigration commission, is made final reviewing authority on admissibility of certain aliens.

Members of the committee, who were aliens, under the ages of 20 and 16, respectively, are to be admitted. Illinois members voted on the final passage of the bill as follows:
For—Wilson, Wheeler, H. T. Ratsey, Fuller, Graham, Chindblom, Ireland, Brooks, Dennison, Yates.

Against—McAndrews, Sabath, J. W. Huey, Juul, Britten, Copley, Smith. Not voting—McKenzie, Williams, Rosenberg, McKinley, Mason, Gallagher, Kilg, Cannon, Mann, Madden.

Communists Ever Busy.
"Aliens are not coming aimlessly to this country from Norway, Sweden, and Denmark," Chairman Johnson said, appealing for the bill. "While we are splitting hairs over the methods of suspension the Communist party of America has flooded this country with the most vicious circulars, calling for straight out revolution."

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—At the close of an all day session of the international communication conference four of the five powers represented were ready tonight to sign a modus vivendi for the operation of the former German cables pending their final disposition.

If France agrees, it is believed that the way will be opened to a final settlement of the cable dispute at a resumption of the negotiations in January.

In the case of the Pacific cables Japan is maneuvering to obtain from the league of nations a class three mandate over all the former German islands north of the equator. This would place them under Japanese law, by which Japan has a monopoly of cable and wireless rights.

Carpenters and scene painters are transforming Fullerton hall, in the Art Institute, in preparation for the opening of the music-pageant-play, "The Drama of the Nativity," next Friday night. Miss Gwendolyn Foulke Cates will take the part of Mary.

The orchestra will be composed of members of the Chicago Symphony. The musicians will be placed in the rear of the hall instead of immediately in front of the stage. The Paulist choir will render the vocal music.

An addition this year to the vocal numbers will be a Christmas carol written by Eunice Tietjens, wife of Cloyd Head, author of the drama.

INFLATED PRICE OF LAND ADDS TO FARMER'S BURDEN

Some Give Less Returns than Would Mortgage.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Price of farm lands is a basic factor in the twin problems of farm tenantry and cost of production in agriculture. Inflated acre values, due largely to speculation, combined with declining crop markets, have put on the ragged edge many a tenant who started to buy land at $300 an acre and upward while grain prices were high.

Overcapitalization, too, has had a voracious appetite for "profits," even in normal years. In many regions acre prices have climbed more rapidly than value of products, and after the owner has deducted from his gross returns 5 or 6 per cent on the market price of his land "profits" have vanished. How much of the going price of land should figure as a cost of production is one question to which the experts are turning searching inquiry.

Secretary of Agriculture Meredith in his annual report, just out, says that in the last five years the selling price of farm land and improvements has increased 68 per cent. From March, 1919, to March, 1920, alone the increase was 21 per cent.

Mr. Meredith estimates, in advance of the census figures, that the average price of farm land, improvements, and implements per acre in 1920 is two and a half times that of 1910. It is five times the price of twenty years ago. In comparison during the forty years from 1840 to 1900 the average price increased only about 20 per cent.

Figures for Sixty Years.
To be explicit, the average value per acre of farm land and improvements was:

1860 $16.93; 1910 $ 41.60
1900 20.70; 1920 [est.] 103.50

In some sections the advance has been so extreme that at present prices land has no chance to "pay itself off." In Iowa, for example, the boom that shot some lands up to $500 an acre and more is deplored by many agricultural experts. In most instances speculators—not actual farmers—reaped the benefit.

The land was run up even ahead of commodity prices, which were then at their peak, and now the drop in market has put the purchaser on the rocky roads, especially if he happened to be a tenant buying on time. In the richest part of the Illinois corn belt experts last summer were maintaining that land at $500 would never "pay off" with a reasonable return.

"In some sections," Mr. Meredith says, "the net returns on the purchase price of farm lands is considerably less than the ordinary rate of return on first mortgages and similar investments. The rental rate of cash leases also is frequently less than half the rate of return on mortgages."

Studies indicate that in certain regions the recent advance in the price of land has still further aggravated this condition. Such a situation is unfortunate, for it increases the difficulties of a tenant who is seeking to become an owner. If he borrows a considerable part of the purchase price of a farm at 5 to 7 per cent and then finds the investment will earn little more than 3 per cent, it will be impossible, in many instances, for him to discharge the debt.

Why Prices Have Jumped.
Among the chief causes of the land advance are the increasing scarcity of land available for new farms, the upward movement of farm commodities up to the time of the break, operations of speculators, and the sentimental impulse—many a farmer in the last few years has paid a fancy price for land simply to increase his contiguous holdings or to provide a farm for his boy, adjoining the old homestead.

In computing how much of the accretion in land value should figure as a production cost, the experts who

Such a situation is unfortunate, for it increases the difficulties of a tenant who is seeking to become an owner. If he borrows a considerable part of the purchase price of a farm at 5 to 7 per cent and then finds the investment will earn little more than 3 per cent, it will be impossible, in many instances, for him to discharge the debt.

Why Prices Have Jumped.
Among the chief causes of the land advance are the increasing scarcity of land available for new farms, the upward movement of farm commodities up to the time of the break, operations of speculators, and the sentimental impulse—many a farmer in the last few years has paid a fancy price for land simply to increase his contiguous holdings or to provide a farm for his boy, adjoining the old homestead.

FOR A NAVAL HOLIDAY.

Secretary Daniels' attempt to use our national dislike of spending money on the army or navy in order to make sentiment for the league of nations is quite characteristic. But we do not think it will get far.

To begin with, Mr. Daniels' talk about the need for a big navy does not carry much weight in view of his division of the fleet. We are not in the league and, according to Daniels, that fact necessitates a tremendous navy. Yet he divides the navy we have in defiance of sound strategy and of common sense, which is the foundation of sound strategy.

In the second place it is unbecoming to assert that we must go into a league of nations as an alternative to building what Mr. Wilson once recommended, namely, "incomparably the greatest navy in the world." What we need to justify a limitation of our program is not an agreement with Switzerland, Bolivia, Paraguay, Liberia, etc., but an agreement with Great Britain and Japan, especially the former.

Mr. Daniels will soon pass out of our ken as a naval authority and his effort to begot public opinion in the interest of our naval strength but in that of the scheme devised at Paris for a league of nations will go for nothing. But we hope Mr. Harding and Republican leaders will give early and definite consideration to the problem of our naval policy and to the negotiation of an agreement with Great Britain and Japan which will permit us all to avoid the abysmal folly of pouring billions into a program of naval rivalry. We cannot afford the money. Still more emphatically we cannot afford that Great Britain should add to her tremendous burden of debt the sums necessary to maintain her primacy on the seas.

If we look squarely at the controlling facts we shall lose no time in seeking an understanding. England must retain sea supremacy. We do not need supremacy. If we build fast England must build faster. We are self-sustaining when it comes to a final issue. We can lose on the sea and remain alive. England cannot. To build against her means war in the end, a war which would weaken us in the long run and weaken western civilization perhaps fatally. Before we have built to a point at which we can not only challenge the existence of the empire but place it in jeopardy at our mercy, the English will have to fight us.

There is nothing in that for us. We should have spent billions to ruin our chief creditor and the power with which we are best able to get along and with which we have the most important community of interest. If we do this we do not deserve to be at large. We belong in a padded cell.

An understanding among Great Britain, Japan, and the United States to restrict naval expenditures is in our opinion one of the chief things to be desired in the interest of world peace and restoration at this moment. All three nations need every dollar for constructive uses. All need drastic economy. Between Great Britain and the United States there is no inherent source of war. Between the United States and Japan there should not be, and if it is to be avoided an understanding with Great Britain is one of the best means of preventing it. We recognize the danger of war with Japan, a nation militant of mood, whose policies are formulated largely by the military and naval parties which divide power in her politics. But if Great Britain and the United States have an understanding with Great Britain entering it rather than defying our combined influence and strength must certainly appeal to the very wise and self-controlled statesmanship of Japan.

A naval holiday would mean great relief from expenditure in all three countries at a time when such relief is imperative. It should be worth more to the peace of the world than any practicable league of nations, international court, or other device of the earnest seekers of world concord. And the sooner such an understanding is reached the easier it will be to accomplish.

MAKING IT A BIT THICKER IN GREECE.

The American anarchists who tried to blow up the Russian soviet officials and teach them to take a joke evidently failed to make any impression, either physical or mental. If they had the soviet government would not have sent a note of protest to Great Britain, France, and Italy warning them to keep their hands off the monarchical Greeks who want Constantine on his white charger, a triumphal return and all the solvent glories, the orgy of splendor, which the American Princess Anastasia, Mrs. Leeds, promises.

Without the intervention of the Russians the situation was not uncomplicated, the ostensible defenders of the right of self-determination in Europe being seemingly convinced that Greece is another country where the rule does not work. If you cared to, you might get a headache thinking over that.

The soviet is built on the principle that if the majority does not know what is good for the country it must be reduced. If a country wants a bourgeois government enough of the bourgeoisie must be subdued or eliminated until there has been a correction of ideas. A minority is right if it is a soviet minority.

Therefore if the majority of the Greeks have a monarchical idea, that majority loses rights. A protest from the soviet in the name of that self-determining monarchical choice is inconsistent with soviet principles which hold that a people may have any form of government they want providing it is proletarian. The British, French, and Italians are much more liberal. They say that the Greeks may have anything they want except Tino. Both the Russians and the allies virtually agree that any people may have anything they want except something they are not wanted to have. The

THE IRISH SALMON TROUT.

In John Steele's story, published in the foreign news service of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, it was related that on one occasion when THE TRIBUNE correspondent brought the Irish envoy and the British cabinet minister together the latter asked if Ireland would insist on the full republican demands.

"I am a fisherman," said the envoy. "I fish for salmon but never reject a trout."

"Suppose we give you a salmon trout," said the minister. "Compromise, the salmon trout, is the basis of nearly all human settlements in conflict, and it will be the settlement of the Irish question. The most obdurate Englishmen will give more than they want to give and the most zealous Irishmen will get less than they demand. The moderates in both countries will rule eventually, but they have a hard time with the extremists who prevent conciliation and compromise."

Mr. Steele related how the series of conferences and negotiations between the representative of Irish moderates and the British cabinet was nearly defeated from time to time by the proceedings of extremist Sinn Fein and crown representatives in Ireland. While Lloyd George was studying the transcript of the conversations and proposals the Dublin massacre of royal officers occurred. It nearly wrecked the peace proceedings by inflaming the English. The subsequent massacre of civilians at the football grounds by the constabulary and military nearly wrecked them by further inflaming the Irish.

The ambushing and shooting of soldiers, police, and black and tans, followed by retaliatory murders and burnings by the auxiliary forces, the arrest of Griffith, the moderate who in De Valera's absence is head of the Irish republican organization, all the disorder and violence compromised the compromises almost fatally.

Now, when negotiations going on in spite of difficulties, warranted Mr. Steele in a hopeful report of the conferences, the Sinn Fein bomb a military lorry and the military burn part of the city of Cork in retaliation. Mischief causes more mischief, violence is countered with more violence, murder with murder, and the moderates, fishing for the salmon trout, are driven away.

The Irish extremists are using the methods of the Mafia, assassinating and shooting from ambush. The British are using the methods of the Germans in Louvain, both oblivious to the fact that the methods used increase the evils. More soldiers and black and tans will be bombed and shot because Cork was burned, and more burning and shooting will follow the next slaughter of soldiers. That is the road to madness.

Americans who find the Irish question constantly disturbing their own national interests fervently hope the Irish and English moderates will catch their salmon trout. They cannot reach an agreement except by compromise. They cannot reach peace by murder and arson. If the English had another Cromwell and he ruled Ireland by extermination it might cost Great Britain her place in the civilized world. The Irish cannot win their freedom by fighting the English until they build a fleet which will subjugate Great Britain.

Acts of futile violence only frighten away the trout, increase the hatreds, and discourage the moderates in whose agreements the solution must be found.

BEATING THE SURTAX.

The drastic break in the stock market is partly the result of the income tax. Up to a certain point men of large incomes liable to the payment of a heavy surtax find it profitable to register a loss by the sale of securities. That brings their income down from the levels where the tax is heaviest and by repurchase of stock at a low level the actual loss may be made up and prospective gains carried forward into another year when the tax may be lower or at worst subsequent losses may be set off against them.

We are not expert in taxation and have no remedies to offer. Perhaps there are none. Most laws create evils as well as cure them. Advantages must be set off against disadvantages. But certainly the demoralization of real values brought about by this registering of losses is a serious drawback.

Are we to have each year a heavy sale of stocks toward the end of the year for the sake of avoiding or deducting the surtax, a sale which is taken advantage of by speculators who by short selling still further depress the price of stocks below their real value? The evil of this is plain enough. It frightens many small holders of stock into selling at a loss. Thus a class which it is the interest of the country to encourage to save and invest are injured, and discouraged, and embittered. And in addition to this sacrifice the whole credit system of the country is gravely strained and demoralized. Credit resources which ought to be applied to constructive enterprises are rigidly held to the protection of unjustly imperiled investment. Private thrift and general enterprise are both checked, and at a time when both are sorely needed.

Editorial of the Day

NO BLUE LAW SUNDAY.
[Stonix Felle Argus-Lager.]

If the extremists who have drawn a bill for a blue law Sunday for the State of Columbia, with the expectation that a similar law will be enacted by the various states, thought that good people generally would fall for this "reform," they are in for the rudest jolt of their lives. The balanced, level-headed judgment of the rank and file of Christian people everywhere appears to be against the pending proposal and it is not likely to get anywhere before congress unless the very small minority of the extremists are allowed to do all the talking before the congressional committee and about the lobbies. In other words, if real public sentiment is heard from at the capital, as it is being heard from through the country generally, the Lord's Day alliance will get the cold shoulder in Washington.

In a sermon recently delivered by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, as reported by the New York Times, Dr. Manning asserted that the Puritan idea of Sunday was distorted and mistaken and that its revival now "would work grave injury to religion." He ascribed much of the present laxity in Sabbath observance to reaction from the excessive severity of earlier generations, and pleaded that not only should the church encourage wholesome sports and recreations on Sunday but that its pastors should participate whenever possible.

"The proposed campaign for strict Sunday laws, if the announcement regarding it are correct," said the rector, "is one of those well meant but misguided efforts which do harm instead of good to the cause which they are intended to serve. It is impracticable, wrong in principle, and based on a narrow and imperfect conception of the Christian religion. Such a method of securing Sunday observance would do far more to drive religion out of the hearts of the people than to draw them toward it."

"DAYS OF REAL SPORT."

WHEN the late Elbert Hubbard was a boy in McLean county, Illinois, the prevailing custom, at least among the people with whom he was thrown in contact, to make use of the services of "yarb doctors." When a sick person consulted one of these healers he was looked over, sized up, his tongue, pulse, and "yallars" of his eyes were observed, and he was told to "come back next Friday for his medicine."

Then the "yarb doctor" went out in the woods, hunted up some roots and leaves and seeds, took them home, stewed them up on the kitchen stove, and when the patient came back on Friday he was given a jugful of a vile looking, vile smelling, and vile tasting compound and told to take a gobletful at a time.

These concoctions got Elbert Hubbard's root to such an extent that he ran away from home, grew long hair, and became a reformer, an anti-vaccinationist, anti-vivisectionist, anti-medicine, out-of-a-bottleist, and generally anti-medical.

Had Dr. B. Fantus been Elbert Hubbard's doctor when that genius was "in bad," the explosive, convention busting energy might have been worked off in another direction. Dr. Fantus has two axioms about medicating children which apply to some extent to adults. They are:

"A struggle in administration sometimes does more harm than the medicine can do good."

"The more we know about medicines the less offensive is our medication."

What a pity it did not fall to the lot of Dr. Fantus to purge Elbert Hubbard in those early formative days! He has written a book on candy medication from which we can learn how to give it to children and make them happy about it. From his little book on useful eatables I take the following formula:

To take cancer out—Place a layer of thick strup of any flavor in a medicine glass the inside of which is smeared with the strup. Pour the oil in the middle of the glass without touching the sides. Cover with orange juice. Place the edge of the glass inside the lower lip on the teeth. Swallow on one gulp.

Or dissolve 1 grain of saccharin in 60 minims of 3 per cent alcohol, add one-tenth of 1 per cent vanillin and one-tenth of 1 per cent of cloves. This can be added to the oil.

Bran Biscuits—One-half cup wheat bran, one-half cup improved graham flour, 1 teaspoonful baking powder, 1 teaspoonful melted butter, 1 saltspoonful salt, milk.

Give ten bran food recipes. Agar Jelly—Wash 5 parts agar in cold water. Add to it 400 parts of water and boil until clear. Flavor with wine, sugar, lemon peel, coffee, cream, or yolk of egg.

Lexative Fruit Cake—Senna leaves, figs, dates, prunes, and raisins (the last three all seedless) are mixed in equal parts. Chop fine, mix by kneading, and roll into cylinders as thick as a thumb.

INFECTIOUS PROBABLE CAUSE. E. A. D. writes: "1. What is the cause of stone in the kidney? 2. After it is removed by operation is it likely to form again? 3. Is the drinking water in Spokane conducive to this formation?"

REPLY. 1. In some cases infection of the kidney with pus cocci. In some cases gravel or the precipitation of uric acid from the urine. There are those who hold that gravel and stone in the kidney result from a diet too rich in meat, coffee and tea.

2. That happens occasionally.

3. I do not think so. It was once held that drinking the lime waters of Kentucky caused many people in that state to have stone in the bladder and kidney. It is not thought now that drinking water is much of a factor in causing stone.

SYMPTOMS OF CONSUMPTION. Cite writes: "What are the symptoms of consumption?"

REPLY. 1. Slight afternoon temperature. 2. Slight cough, generally with a little sputum. 3. Loss of appetite, indigestion. 4. Slight loss of weight. 5. Tired easily. 6. Increase in pulse rate. 7. A little blood in sputum.

These are symptoms which indicate a need for examination unless they can be accounted for.

HAVE HEART EXAMINED.

N. Y. Z. writes: "Will you kindly let me know what causes my mother to get out of breath when she walks a few short blocks? She is 52 years old, weighs about 175 pounds, and is 4 feet 9 inches in height. About ten years ago she used to weigh about 150 pounds and could walk a much longer distance without getting out of breath."

REPLY. Have her heart, blood and kidneys examined.

FIGHTING FLEAS IN RUGS. Mrs. E. C. H. writes: "1. What should be taken to relieve the itch from flea bites? 2. Which preparation is best to eliminate fleas from rugs?"

REPLY. 1. Apply a little aromatic spirits of ammonia or soda water. 2. Powdered moth balls or fake naphthalene. Sprinkle the fleas on the rug. Leave during the night. Brush the powder off in the morning.

It can be used again. Fleas breed in dust, over walls and floors. Watch out for dogs, cats, rats and other animal carriers.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am renting a flat and have been paying the rent in advance for a few weeks ago. I now pay the last of every month. The owner says we have the rent in advance. We have no lease saying how rent should be paid. Can they force me to pay it in advance? We do not get hot water and steam heat.

A. E. E.

If you agreed to pay the rent in advance, as probably was the case, for you did so to begin with, you are probably can serve you with a five day notice and terminate your tenancy if you fail to pay.

DUO-ART REPRODUCING PIANO

Musically Speaking

THE WHOLE world of music is at your present command. Paderewski is a thousand miles away, but he plays for you in your home. The latest Broadway success may not reach Chicago for perhaps a year, but you can hear it in sparkling melodies played by Frank Banta, Cliff Hess or by Harry Akst.

FRIENDS drop in. Someone suggests a dance. Up with the rugs. And then such jazzical music as you never dreamed a piano capable of.

Humanly Speaking

THE HUMAN element is a tremendous thing in the DUO ART Reproducing Piano. Soon you will say, "that is Bauer," "that is Hoffman," "that is Busoni, no one but he can play like that."

PERSONALITIES of the artists are now among your treasures. Almost at the first note you learn to tell what master is playing for you.

Mechanically Speaking

THE DUO ART is either an Upright or a Grand Piano, fitted with a perforated roll of paper which is operated by a motor. To this perforated roll all the mechanics of the human hand have been transferred. This is really only half the truth, because the DUO ART plays with sixteen graduations of pressure, while the human hand is not capable of more than seven. The daintiest pianissimo and the most tumultuous fortissimo are produced with equal ease by this wonderful new piano.

Duo Art Pianos sell from $895 to $4200. Quarterly or monthly payments may be made. Deliveries for Christmas should be arranged for now.

CHICAGO GUNMAN WHO JUMPED BAIL TAKEN IN TOLEDO

Robber Wanted for Hold-up of Pawnshop Caught.

We are to have in our midst once more Charles O'Malley, well known burglar, robber, and two-gun man, according to reports from Toledo, O. They are holding him there awaiting the arrival of Sergeant John Cartan of the detective bureau, who will return him to Chicago.

Charlie left in September without even saying good-by. Judge John Richardson forfeited his $1,000 bonds, thereby causing L. Asher, professional bondsman, much trouble.

O'Malley's adventure here was a daylight attempt last August to hold up the Illinois Pawnshop society, 131 North Dearborn street, in the heart of the loop. Assisted by Albert Johnson and William Davis, he entered the pawnshop and encountered Miss Lillian Edelson and Paul Korshak, manager. Korshak gave battle and the trio ran. A revolver battle in the street followed, terrorizing throngs of men and women on their way to work. Crossing Policeman F. O. Maldenhauer captured O'Malley. The others escaped. Davis was later killed trying to rob a bank.

After a few days in jail a deal was made with Asher. O'Malley paid $1,000 and was released. Threats, political influence, and an offer of $2,500 were tried on Korshak to induce him to drop the prosecution. He disregarded the threats and spurned the offer.

"Disgraced by Arrest," Hangs Self in Cell

Stanley Ostrowski, 54 years old, 8725 Escanaba avenue, South Chicago, decided that hanging was the only way out of his disgrace when he was arrested last night on complaint of his daughter, who said she wanted him frightened so he would stop drinking moonshine. An hour after being locked up Ostrowski's body was found in a South Chicago police station cell, where he had hanged himself with his suspenders.

TAR ON RAMPAGE WREAKS HAVOC IN CHINATOWN

Robert Roat of 904 West Adams street, who says he is a navy hero, sailed into Chicago's Chinatown last night and left it nearly a wreck. When the police finally got him he had broken more than twenty windows in homes and stores on four streets with his fists.

As the police approached Roat lay down on the sidewalk and feigned death, surrounded by a large crowd of angry Chinese and Negroes whose windows had been broken. He was taken to the South Clark street station, where his hands, which were cut in a number of places, were dressed while he recited poetry.

Some of the Chinese attributed Roat's window-breaking outbreak to "hop," while the Negroes suspected whisky, and all agreed he was a "wild man." Roat, when asked the cause of the trouble, said he was getting revenge for an alleged attack made by a Chinaman on a white woman. He was arrested at Twenty-second and La Salle streets.

"Yards Wage Protest" Fails to Interest Many

The "monster massmeeting" of stockyards employees—Secretary Frank Youstra of the Stockyards Labor council said there would be 8,000 protesting workmen present—fell rather flat last night.

The council had called the meeting at 4335 South Halsted for 8 o'clock to protest against federal Judge Samuel Alschuler's wage award.

By 9 o'clock fifty apathetic laborers had appeared. By 10 o'clock seven more arrived en masse. The meeting was called to order.

By a unanimous though silent vote a resolution to adjourn was passed. No statements were issued.

The Central Manufacturing District bank yesterday announced its third bonus for this year. The total amount of additional compensation given each employee this year ranges from 10 to 25 per cent of the annual salary, being based on efficiency, alertness, initiative, loyalty, co-operation, attendance and length of service. The Citizens Trust and Savings bank and the Hill State bank also will pay bonuses of 10 per cent.

HEARING ON TAX REVISION CAUSES COMMITTEE TIF

Offer on Issue of Long Payment.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—(Special.)—Questions relative to the retirement of the public debt caused a clash among members of the house ways and means committee today. The discussion developed during the testimony of Dr. Thomas S. Adams, Yale professor of political economy, and secretary of the department of treasury, who presented the views of Secretary of the Treasury Houston on the revision of the tax laws as outlined in his annual report.

Representative Fordney, Michigan, committee chairman, started the controversy by taking issue with the retirement program and the retirement of the entire floating debt of $2,545,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year of 1921, and the retirement of more than $4,250,000,000 in outstanding Victory notes before the date of maturity in May, 1923.

Mr. Fordney declared himself as favoring refunding of maturing obligations over a long period.

Representative Longworth, Ohio, took issue with Mr. Fordney on the floating debt retirement, declaring it was the expressed policy of congress in authorizing the issuance of treasury certificates of indebtedness that these should be paid from the current revenues and not included in long term bonds.

Dr. Adams indicated his opposition to long term bonds to refund the certificates.

A flat tax of about 16 per cent on corporation earnings, as a substitute for the excess profits tax and the present normal tax of 10 per cent was advocated by Mr. Fordney.

LOW PAY FORCES CHIEF CLERK OF COURT TO RESIGN

The low salaries paid by the county and the prospect of a reduction of 20 per cent have forced James M. Quinlan to resign as chief clerk of the Criminal court, a position he has filled for more than ten years. He will enter the general practice of law with James Kane, formerly a deputy clerk in the same office, under the firm name of Quinlan & Kane. Their offices will be in the City Hall Square Building. Mr. Quinlan was admitted to the bar more than twenty-five years ago. He was attorney for the old south town assessors and chief clerk of the law department of the sanitary district.

NEW ENGLAND COTTON MILLS LOWER WAGES

Boston, Mass., Dec. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—A reduction of 22 1/2 per cent in the wages of approximately one-third of the 300,000 textile workers in New England was announced today.

The notices were posted in Lawrence, Lowell, New Bedford, and other centers of the industry in Maine and Rhode Island. For the most part they applied to mills making cotton goods, but in a few instances operatives on worsteds were involved.

The reduction cancels two increases made during the last year. The manufacturers of Lowell announced that the average wage of the millworker there under the new schedule would be $21 a week.

First announcement of actual reduction was made today by the Pacific mills and the Arlington mills of Lawrence. Their 15,000 workers were notified that a readjustment had been made, effective Dec. 20.

DRAFT BILL FOR VOTE REGISTRY IN COUNTRY TOWNS

weitzer Aids Propose Compulsory Lists.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Compulsory personal registration of all voters in the country towns of Cook county, similar to that required in Chicago, is provided for in a bill to be presented to the next legislature. The bill is now being prepared in the office of County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer under direction of John J. Hayes, head of the elections department.

It is being drawn in response to a demand that the same protection be thrown around elections in Evanston, Oak Park, Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Blue Island, and other suburbs as has been in effect in Chicago and Cleora for many years. The proposal comes as a result of fraud charges made by the conflicting Republican factions in the September primaries.

Governor Elect Small has indicated that as governor he will recognize the Thompson county committee in Cook county as the regular Republican organization. The Deneen-Brundage committee, which claims legal regularity, it is reported, has a plan to establish its own right to control of the party machinery, carrying, as it will, the authority to nominate the twenty candidates for Circuit court judges next June.

At an informal session of the Brundage-Deneen leaders yesterday a safe voting majority based upon the vote for governor last month, is claimed for the anti-city hall forces in the old committee.

Political gossip had it that Virtus C. Rohm, now the active head of the city hall organization, is being groomed as that faction's candidate for mayor to succeed Mayor Thompson, who is supposed to be all set to run for United States Senator against Medill McCormick in 1924.

Another report was that John C. Cannon, now secretary of the Lincoln park commission, is likely to be slated for postmaster of Chicago under the Harding administration.

CITY WILL RUSH BUDGET TO AVOID NEW I. O. U. FLOOD

Increased pay for patrolmen, two additional lieutenants of detectives, consolidation of the sergeant and detective ranks, and 100 new motor-cycles are the four principal recommendations which Chief of Police Fitzmorris will submit to the finance committee today.

Mayor Thompson, Chairman Richard of the finance committee and City Controller Harding conferred yesterday on the city's straitened financial affairs and it was decided to begin work on the 1921 appropriation bill within a week. The council will be asked to pass the budget before Feb. 1 to permit the city to meet pay rolls on money borrowed on anticipation tax warrants.

Money cannot be borrowed on tax anticipation warrants until the tax levy ordinance which accompanies the budget is passed, and unless a loan is made available through the issuance of warrants it may be necessary to ask the legislature to approve the issue of certificates of indebtedness — commonly known as I. O. U.'s — as was done in 1919. Chief Fitzmorris refused to make public the amount of the pay boost which he will ask for the patrolmen pending a conference with Ald. Richter today.

The recommendation that the sergeant and detective sergeant ranks be consolidated will mean an increase of $300 in the pay of detectives if approved. Sergeants are now paid $2,400 and detective sergeants $2,100.

"I intend to use the hundred motor-cycles twenty-four hours a day," Chief Fitzmorris said. "Every patrol sergeant in the outlying districts will be mounted on a cycle with orders to visit his patrolmen once every hour instead of once every two hours as at present."

ROAD BUILDING INCREASES NEED OF PROTECTION

Crooks Quick to Use Good Highways.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
Springfield, Ill., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—A total of $25,940,000 has been spent on Illinois highways. Other roads under construction will take an estimated $14,247,000 more and a $60,000,000 bond issue is waiting to be expended.

The surrounding states of Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Iowa, and Wisconsin also have spent large sums and contemplate investing much larger amounts. These will provide enlarged and modern facilities for the thieves, robbers, holdup men, pickpockets, and other crooks who desire to rush out in an auto from a city, commit a crime and hurry back to their hiding places. The only effective curb so far devised is state police. The adoption of that policy will be urged upon the next Illinois legislature.

Good Roads Increasing Fast.
Probably few realize at what rate permanent highways are being constructed. In federal aid roads 494 miles of concrete construction have been completed in Illinois, also sixteen miles of brick, nine miles of bituminous concrete and bituminous macadam, and 129 miles of earth and oil road. That is a total of 549 miles, of which nearly all is in service. In addition there are under construction 168 miles of concrete, a mile of brick, two miles of macadam, and sixty-one miles of earth and oil road on which federal aid is being given. That will add 232 more miles.

Another division of the construction comes under state aid. A total of 699 miles of concrete and brick has been finished, also 359 miles of macadam and gravel and 479 miles of earth and oil road. That adds 1,234 miles to the services of the crooks, as well as reputable citizens.

County Built Roads.
The highway law permits counties to build roads, for which they are to be partly reimbursed later, and turn them over to the state for maintenance. Of this class 135 miles of concrete, 21 miles of brick, 8 miles of macadam and gravel, and 31 miles of earth and oil road have been completed. That's another 195 miles. To this might be added 32 miles under contract at present.

Altogether Illinois has now 1,388 miles of permanent roads completed and 636 miles of earth and oil road which have been improved. Some of the latter will have pavements later. This does not take into account the construction in progress. It is highly probable that Illinois' crime record would be much larger if all these thoroughfares were federal aid roads. These are the long distance and connected routes. The state aid roads have a mile here and two miles there completely isolated except that they lead to a small town or city. Wisconsin on the north is going along also at a merry clip, according to telegraphic information received from the state highway department. That state has 655 miles of concrete roads alone, of which 505 were constructed in the last five years and 88 in less than a year. In 1921 Wisconsin plans to build 240 miles at an estimated cost of $10,000,000. Kentucky to the south has sixty-six miles of permanent pavements and plans to construct fifty miles more in 1921, and has $5,000,000 with which to do it. Missouri to the west claims it has constructed 614 miles of "hard surfaced roads" since 1916, of which 340 miles were done this year. For 1921, 22 this state has 184 projects totaling 1,825 miles which it hopes to accomplish for $20,000,000.

Iowa has spent $4,500,000 this year on roads and plans to spend $15,000,000 in 1921, according to telegraphic advice. It now claims seventy-two miles of paved roads. Indiana to the east has about 1,000 miles completed, of which 135 miles were constructed this year. Next year it plans to build 119 miles by the state alone, which is nearly double what the state proper did this year. For 1921, $7,500,000 is available. All of which indicates the advantages thieves will have in this and surrounding states in the near future without rural police protection.

How to Be the Success You Want to Be

President in the Making—at age 31

Today's demonstration shows the difference between the man who is a success and the man who is a failure. Every success has been a success because it followed a definite law. Every failure has been a failure because it did not follow this law.

If you know this law you can easily follow it and be more successful every day. It is easy. Your competition will be very small, because only one in every twenty even tries to be a success!

Be sure to come and bring a friend. If you cannot make it in time for lunch or dinner, come to the demonstration. There is no charge.

U. S. OIL A IN MEXICO BRITISH

U. S. OIL ACTIVITY IN MEXICO STIRS BRITISH DEMAND

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—The tremendous increase in oil from Mexico by American companies which have wrested from the British interests the supremacy in this industry is believed here to be the reason for the sudden change in the front of the British government regarding the Mexican situation.

This change is marked by sudden financial demands made upon the Mexican government by England, in addition to securing great petroleum concessions during the last few days and even hours of the De la Huerta régime.

Want Roads and Damages.
At a recent meeting of the railway bond holders in London of the company owning the Inter-oceanic railway it was decided to ask Mexico in the name of British investors, for the immediate restoration of the Inter-oceanic, the Mexican Southern, the Oriental, and the Vera Cruz-Alvarado railway lines with the payment of $2,000,000 pesos, or $11,000,000 gold, for the earnings of the lines since they were seized by the government.

Statistics at the state department show that the Aguila, the chief British company operating in Mexico, two years ago supreme in the Tampico region, is now surpassed by two and frequently three American companies in the amount of oil shipped from Mexico each month.

Spills U. S.-British Combine.
New York, Dec. 13.—[Special.]—A break in the amicable relations which have existed between the American oil interests operating in Mexico and the British interests in that country has developed as a result of the wholesale concessions granted to the British by the De la Huerta régime. The Mexican Eagle Oil company has resigned from the organization of American and English interests in the fight that has been waged against the confederate program instituted by the late President Carranza of Mexico.

MONDA ROSE PROVES SELF A PROPHETESS; NO PROSECUTION

To the various sobriquets by which Miss Rose Schweiberg was known, including "Monda Rose" and "Queen of the Bridge Path," may now be added that of "Prophetess." For did she not predict when arrested and charged with the embezzlement of $50,000 that she would never be prosecuted? She did, and yesterday she proved that she knew whereof she spoke.

The charges ROSE SCHWEIBERG preferred against her by the firm of Biehl & Siffermann, by whom she had been employed, were stricken from the docket.

4 PROMINENT IN BUILDING FACE GRAFT CHARGES

New York, Dec. 13.—[Special.]—Four men prominent in building trade operations were in court today on indictments growing out of the Lockwood committee's investigation of the building scandal. Two of them, John T. Hettrick, author of "The Code of Practice," used by several groups of contractors in the building trade, and William L. Doran, president of Journeymen Plumbers' union, local No. 4, who is charged with coercion, were arraigned before Justice John V. McAvoy, Supreme court criminal branch.

The others were Peter Stadnicher and Joseph Moran, said to be collectors for Robert P. Brindell, head of the building trades council, who were arraigned before Judge Joseph F. McGuire on indictments handed up by the November additional grand jury, charging them with extortion and coercion.

It is understood that bench warrants have been issued for four other men indicted at the same time.

If you put a meal before him and let him choose what agrees with him best, he will thrive. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is the right kind of nourishing food for the child's mind during the growing years. Give your child this remarkable original work, and watch carefully which of the 10 great Departments interests him most, Nature, Science, History, Biography, Astronomy, Physiology, Art, Literature, Poetry and Manual Training. It will prove THE KEY to his natural bent, and the kind of work or profession in which he will most easily succeed.

DYNAMITE JACK, MULE KICK BILL, ALL SET FOR GO

FIGHT FACTS

Place—Madison Square garden, New York.
Time—Ten o'clock (9 o'clock Chicago time).
Dempsey's guarantee—$100,000 (not to be paid).
Brennan's punishment—$35,000 (being going).
Richard's share—All that's left.
Attendance—13,000.
Estimated receipts—$175,000.

BY FRANK SMITH.

New York, Dec. 13.—[Special.]—Madison Square garden is all set for the big fight between Dempsey and Brennan, known to the world as heavy-weight champion, and Bill Brennan, who is known to the world as "Dynamite Jack," and "Mule Kick Bill," and "All Set for Go."

When the hands turn to the New Year dinner hour—8 o'clock—tomorrow night, the doors of the garden will swing open, the bugs will stampede the doorman, and the ushers will proceed to get everyone in the wrong paw.

When all have been seated, some song booster will sing the national anthem and all will rise, as laid down in the infantry drill regulations. When the anthem is finished, the song booster will have a seat and some $15 bug will get "the gate" and, mayhap, a battle of his own with some "bouncer."

That New York has gone "bug-house" over sports is indicated by the fact that some of the genies at the six day bike race just ended paid $2 to get in and 20 cents extra war tax that they might cling to the top-most ratters and yell themselves speechless over nothing. The more influential citizen laid out ten bucks for a box seat, with a dollar added for Uncle Sam.

100,000 Smacks for Champion.

At the big carnival tomorrow night the cheapest chair is $5, with 50 cents to Secretary Houston, while the top tier will give up $25, with $2.50 added to help pay Europe's war debt.

The money in the house is problematical, but it is believed it will reach $175,000. Of this amount Dempsey is to receive $100,000 and Brennan $35,000, win, lose, or draw. This information was gleaned from Tex Rickard's publicity department, but getting to see Tex Rickard is about as easy as pushing yourself into the White House at midnight with an amendment to the covenant of the league of nations.

The whole United States has been told about the prowess of Jack and Bill, the headliners, so we'll skim over them and say something about the other boxers who will give the fans a run for their money, even if the stellar attraction ends quickly.

Colored Supplement to Big Mill.

There's a "Big Bill" Tate and "Kid Norfolk"—goodness knows what his real name is—the florice stick and the chocolate drop, respectively. Bill is one of those elongated persons, towering, it seems, a head over Dempsey—and the champ is a six footer. Big Bill looks to weigh 220 pounds, at least, but we may be wrong.

"Norfolk" is a light heavyweight. He wheezes around the ring like a horse with the heaves. He stands about 5 feet 3 in borrowed tennis shoes and weighs in the neighborhood of 165 pounds.

Charley Weinert, the big Newark heavyweight, meets Bartley Madden in one of the bouts. Charley, according to the records, has been going great guns since his return to the ring. He smacked one on Sgt. Ray Smith the other night, and the soldier-fighter left on a stretcher in the first round. While Madden is a rough customer, it is the belief that Weinert will take him before the limit. It ought to be a fairly good quarrel.

Classy Middleweight Mill.

One of the brightest spots on the big card is the middleweight team, which is scheduled for six innings. Marty Farrell, the local entry, will clash with Frank McGuire of Philadelphia. This should be a whale of a fight.

Farrell is being touted by Jack Dempsey and Jack Keenan as the real works. He appears to have a mighty wallop and a world of speed, but from all accounts will need it when he confronts the Philadelphia boy. The latter showed here last month and beat Jeff Duffy, the tough Greek from Chicago, in superb fashion.

So, take it all in all, there's going to be quite a show here tomorrow night. May the best men win!

Pal Moore Wins After Hard Bout with Hughes

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 13.—Pal Moore, Memphis bantam, defeated Bobby Hughes, New Orleans, in an 8-round March 20th, but the local jumping jack was forced to call on everything he had to accomplish the job. Hughes stubbornly contested the fight from beginning to end and in several close exchanges forced Moore to break away.

California Stars Injured; May Not Play in Ohio Game

COUNCIL TO GET BILL FOR MAT COMISH AT SESSION TOMORROW

BY RAY PEARSON.

There were important developments yesterday when the aldermanic fellows got together in session in the council chambers to act on the ordinance drafted by Ald. Anton Cermak to regulate wrestling by commission rule in Chicago. Here's what happened:

Change in ordinance concerning city tax revised, so that clubs will pay 5 per cent of gross receipts instead of 10 per cent. Theaters which hold wrestling shows as side issues to theatrical performances to pay 2 1/2 per cent of gross receipts.

Decision reached to make Cermak ordinance apply to wrestling only, instead of including other sports.

Ordinance returned to corporation counsel for finishing touches after revisions were completed, to be presented to council committee today and introduced for passage in city council tomorrow.

Recommendation made that Chief of Police Fitzmorris reconsider his decision not to allow permit for the benefit wrestling show to be held at Second Regiment armory on Saturday night and that sanction be granted.

It took about two hours to get the ordinance in satisfactory shape, there being present besides several aldermen wrestling promoters, wrestlers, and newspaper men. Every one was given a chance to offer suggestions, and after the completion of the revising job it was the consensus that commission rule for wrestling will not only place the sport on a higher plane in Chicago but make it more successful than ever.

The commission probably will be made up of six members, two aldermen, three laymen, and a city official who shall act as secretary. The commission will have full power to govern the sport, and as soon as the ordinance is passed by the council, a set of rules will be drafted by the commission.

Phil Bartleme Resigns as Michigan Director

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—Phil Bartleme, since 1919 director of outdoor athletics at the University of Michigan, has tendered his resignation to the athletic board of control to take effect June 30. The board is unable to act, as Bartleme's appointment was made by the regents and they will have to act on his resignation. No reason was given by Mr. Bartleme for his action.

The athletic board has approved plans for completing the stadium on Ferry field, and if bids do not exceed $400,000, work will be started in the spring and finished before the opening of the next football season. The proposed new stadium will equal the Harvard stadium in size, seating approximately 44,000.

In the Wake of the News

DEMPSEY VS. BRENNAN.

BARRING a "lucky punch," always possible in pugilism, Bill Brennan is likely to spend an unpleasant evening with Champion Jack Dempsey at Madison Square Garden tonight. The duration of the entertainment, in our opinion, depends upon Jack.

Those who saw his quick disposal of Jesse Willard at Toledo, and of the over-pressaged Billy Miske at Benton Harbor, think Dempsey outclasses any American, white heavyweight. Then HOUSE.

For bill 16
Against bill 1
On the fence 3

The first influx of replies from legislators regarding their attitude toward a clean boxing bill for Illinois was overwhelmingly in favor of a measure guarding the sport.

Of twenty-nine counted, twenty-two gave a positive yes, two a positive no and five straddled the fence, but expressed a willingness to hop with the "yes" men if assured the measure will benefit all concerned.

Solons Point to Records.

Various legislators point to their past records as favoring boxing, and assert they remain strong friends of the game and will do their utmost to "educate" those who are holding back until they "study" the matter.

Lawmakers who have expressed themselves as personally strong for the sport, cite the fact that their constituents are against it, and naturally feel they must bow to the will of the people who put them in office. At the same time they intimate they might come over if there was strong sentiment for the measure. In the table, these men have been listed as "doubtful."

How Downstate Men Stand.

A portion of a letter from a downstate member of the house is representative of the "yes" replies:

"I am in favor of a decent, fair, and square boxing bill. During the campaign, I was repeatedly asked my position and repeatedly answered that if elected, I would vote for a bill that would safeguard the boxers, the clubs, the state, and last, but not least, the public."

"I am in favor of having a decision given."

Stecher squirmed out of the first of these holds in thirty-five seconds, but as he arose Lewis got another, which he maintained for forty seconds. Stecher squirmed out and obtained a body scissors, his favorite hold, but by sheer strength Lewis broke away and clamped on another headlock, which lasted forty seconds.

The next three were of short duration, but Stecher appeared weak and groggy as he got to his feet.

LEWIS HEADLOCK JARS CROWN OFF STECHEER'S DOME

New York, Dec. 13.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis won the world's heavyweight catch as catch can wrestling championship tonight by throwing Joe Stecher in 1:41.54 with a head and hip lock. Lewis weighed 238 pounds, twenty more than his opponent.

The finish was a spectacular one. Stecher was worn down to a weakened condition by eight successive headlocks in the last moments of the contest.

It is a bonnie picture (she is such and every-thing) without one of the prize productions of the year. Did you see the play? If so, you will not have forgotten the delightful story wherein Bunty, the daughter in a motherless home, manages her stern father and two brothers and manipulates the various events that come to concern her and hers with a sure and steady hand, a canny eye for the future, and a never failing sense of justice and humor.

Bunty's father, Tammam Biggar, is a deacon in the kirk and a stern man. Quite a bit of managing does Tammam take. Bunty's brother Jamie goes to Glasgow and steals a hummer's pounds. Bunty's brother Rab stays at home and gets almost daily "freshings." Comes a day when he declares that he will take no more. Bunty is busy that day.

Bunty has a fiancé, She and Weelum for going on five years have been saving money with which to set up housekeeping. Weelum has an aunt who would like to marry Tammam and insists on intrusting her savings to the effect of her desires.

Weelum doesn't want her, but when he borrows the savings to pay back what Jamie took and save the same of Biggar it begins to look as though he'd have to have her. Things pile up for Bunty.

Just at the crucial moment, however, Tammam's past confronts him in the charming form of Helen Dunlop, who, it appears, had been left waiting at the church in the sweet bye and bye. Helen has been the misguided Jamie's landlady, and she loves him like a brother. It looks like Tammam is in for a bad time. Bunty pulls the strings.

The picture is beautifully put on. The subtitles are a delight. And the cast—! Everything for every moment that you could desire. Miss Joy et al. will surely never lack for contracts if they can keep up the good work they put into this production.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Parsley Root Dishes.

Novelties to some people are the parsley root dishes, cream soups, creamed vegetable and the vegetable in salads. Parsley root may be used like celery root for salads.

This root is not to be found in all localities, but is common enough in some, and seems to be procurable in season always at department stores and Jewish markets—about three large roots for 3 cents.

It may be used in the same way the parsnip is, and most people will find it more agreeable. For instance, it is excellent when washed, peeled, cut in slices, perhaps blanched, then cooked in a little water and finished with butter merely. It has more of the flavor of some of the rare and almost unknown—with unappealing vegetables.

A cream sauce made by sweating one onion and a little green pepper in about two tablespoons of butter until they are soft, never brown, then adding two level tablespoons of flour, stirring it thoroughly, then adding one cup of milk and stirring it until it thickens, with the sliced and cooked parsley make a rich vegetable soup, and one good to serve on toast for almost a meal.

Use salt and a tiny bit of nutmeg for the seasoning. By the way, sweating of onions is accomplished by putting them into hot fat over a quickly leaved flame in a covered saucepan.

A cream soup may be made just like the creamed root, by pressing the cooked root through a sieve and adding it to a thin white sauce which may be started with the onion and green pepper or with some ground carrot.

Here's an unusual recipe book—eighteen new dishes in which "Philadelphia" Cream Cheese is the main ingredient, and delicious, and it simply makes your palate palpitate with delight. You'll love them.

The recipes are for every meal from breakfast until midnight. They're unusual and different enough to take the monotony out of your menu, and everyone is nourishing as be-cause, yet easily digested.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Just Out of School.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 17 years old and graduated last June from high school. I am rather tall and slender and most people consider me good looking. Even my brother says I am, and if you have a brother, you know that's 'going some.' But for some reason boys don't seem to like me. My brother's friends treat me as they would their own sisters, and never take me any place, and other boys simply don't pay any attention to me, and yet, I am quite popular with girls. Could you tell me any way to make boys notice and like me well enough to take me places? Also will you please tell me what my handwriting denotes." BETTY.

A brother's compliment is considerably a compliment, to be sure, Betty, so I take it you are an attractive girl. Just out of school, however, you cannot expect to be on the go a great deal. You just wait a minute and one of these days some boy—and maybe several to them—will get your brother's point of view on you, for you must be a nice girl, 16, or he would not praise you, and then your young romances will begin.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Seemed to Disagree.

It was our first year of married life.

My husband was an instructor in college. We were living in one of those eastern, ingrown, overcrowded university towns. Consequently we had only two rooms to ourselves in a rooming house, necessitating the combination of kitchenette, study, and sitting room. One afternoon we were just having our lunch, when suddenly a knock sounded on the door. (Ordinarily our callers were admitted to the reception room downstairs, and we met them there.) My husband

"Come in," and I, simultaneously, thinking the intruder to be the young

MUSIC

Leoncavallo's Last Opera Receives Its World Premier Here

BY RUTH MILLER.

Leoncavallo wrote his last opera, "Edipo Re," for his friend, Last evening when that sixty minutes of condensed tragedy was given its world premiere at the Auditorium, with Titta Ruffo in the title role, one recognized that here was a composer fortunate in that friend.

For Ruffo calculated eagerly, earnestly, and loyally for every effort. He utilized to the last iota all his consummate operatic mastery that we might hear only the lyric gold in this bitter fragment. He labored lovingly and to a decided purpose that his magisterial, his unblemished artistry, yoked with that incongruous and unabashed team mate, his unquestioned vocal bellow, his ineluctable charm of personality, might help to sweep cold criticism, fault finding, or the querulous quibble into the mad, hot stream of unrestrained enthusiasm.

He almost did it, too. He made us forget the stretches of dreary recitative and tedious melodic explanations, the opening oracles and their ominous remarks that it seemed to be the life's work of each and every character to indulge in at the slightest provocation. He worked to such purpose that we heard only the melodies that in their unpretentious sincerity came close to the inspirational moments of Leoncavallo's masterpiece, "Pagliacci."

Yes, last evening Titta Ruffo, with his blood stained face and red smeared hands, as he took his uncounted curtain calls and bowed with a little blind faltering to the storming applause, had made us believe that Leoncavallo had written a story if at times a trifle conventional masterpiece.

There is little space for detail commentary on the musical score, but one remarkably built orchestral climax should be mentioned—the one when Edipo and Gioasta flee shrieking, horror-stricken, and the chorus surges on the stage. Remarkable because of the unbelievable simplicity of the means employed to create an unforgettable moment of symphonic tension. It accomplished this tense, nerve lashed, mad dramatic moment by merely sweeping into an almost true musical rhythm which ended in a martial rhythm that dangerously neared the tawdry, which in turn slipped into the quiet hymn-like melody that precedes the dreary aria of the blind king.

But no matter how your brain says golly, "Old stuff. That is this, and so and so and this," your nerves quiver and respond as much as if Leoncavallo had discovered some miraculous new combination of musical sounds. The impossible dramatic effect is there. And after all, isn't that the important thing?

Dorothy Francis, as the queen, was a truly statuesque figure. One could say her better if she would eschew that ominous, rather hollow quality of only operatic witches in gray cotton. She should sing like the great Albert, as her brother sang well, although his tone was marred by a disconcerting wobble. Deferre and Oliver were good as the messenger and shepherd, respectively. The work of the chorus had its tentative moments, but as a whole it was commendable. The opera was splendidly and impressively staged.

"Gianni Schicchi," that most delectable of lyric comedies, furnished the second half of the bill.

"Foreigners Eating the Viennese Poor," Dr. Carl Beck Says

"Foreigners are buying and eating the Viennese population poor," said Dr. Carl Beck, who returned to Chicago yesterday from a five months' tour of the war-stricken country. Dr. Beck is head of the American Committee for Vienna Relief.

"Vienna is the cheapest place in the world to live in today," Dr. Beck said. "I occupied the finest room in the best hotel in Vienna, on par with Chicago's Blackstone, and paid 15 cents a day for the room and bath. My meals, the best money could buy, did not cost over $1 a day. The reason is the low rate of exchange, which gives the American 600 crowns for $1, for which only 20 crowns could be obtained prior to the war."

"Thousands of foreigners and tens of thousands of refugees from other countries flocked to Vienna to take advantage of this situation. 'Vienna and Austria cannot exist under present conditions. The Vienna will starve this winter, and that means the largest number of 2,000,000 people, including 100,000 children, if aid is not forthcoming.'"

Protestant Children Will Have Home Here

'Tis a horse and a gun and a lamb oh so woolly,
Some skates and a sled for our boy who says 'Bully',
A dear little dollie that walks just like baby,
A wonderful dress and a necklace and maybe—
A really big doll's house with up and down stairs
With curtains and real beds and tables and chairs
And engines and steamboats for Tom, Dick and Harry
And all kinds of toys for dear Santa to carry.
Where Dasher and Dancer and Prancer and Vixen
And Comet and Cupid and Donner and Blitzen
Will bring to the boys and the girls that are good
Most all of the things they'd buy if they could.
